

2010-2011 Instructional Television Resources

South Carolina Department of Education and ETV

Video-based resources to support the curriculum in South Carolina schools are made available through an important partnership between the South Carolina Department of Education and South Carolina Educational Television.

A Note from Kelly Nalley
SC Teacher of the Year 2010-11
Second through Fifth Grade Spanish Teacher
Fork Shoals School, Greenville County Schools

I have first-hand experience in using ITV/ETV's technology resources as a KITE-LL teacher. "Kids Interacting Through Early Language Learning," known as KITE-LL, is so valuable for our state's elementary students. The many varied activities used in this program combine to reach my students' learning styles and build success in their comprehension and retention of the language. Through these activities, my students learn to communicate in Spanish, which proves that actively engaging students in the learning process creates successful learners.

A former teacher cadet, Nalley believes that each child has the potential and ability to learn. She says it's her job to encourage them, support them, and teach them how to choose the right path to become lifelong learners. Every day she works to inspire students to see the world beyond the classroom and turn mirrors into windows. And, the quality video-based resources provided free to our SC schools through ITV and ETV help her to develop a love of a second language with the students she teaches!

ITV Resources and Services Support Teaching and Learning

ITV Link – The Educator's Guide to ITV Resources and Services, the ITV Link, is designed to provide contact information, notes on resources and an updated list of the ITV resources selected by educators and approved by the State Board of Education. The ITV Link serves as the teacher's "where to find" guide, pointing users to the ITV Web site where the most up-to-date information can be accessed. If you don't have your copy of this handy publication, please contact your media specialist or local Digital Education Services (DES).

ITV Resources Supplement Curriculum – Instructional Television, part of the South Carolina Department of Education's Office of eLearning, provides K-12 programming in all curricula areas and professional development for teachers, administrators and school staffs. ITV facilitates the acquisition of nationally-produced instructional programming that is approved by the State Board of Education. Working with the content professionals at the South Carolina Department of Education and the production professionals at ETV, ITV provides the leadership to develop and produce programming to support statewide curriculum needs.

ITV Teacher's Guides – All available Teacher's Guide can be located at www.itv.scetv.org/guides. New guides contain state and/or national standard correlations. The availability of new guides will be announced on the ITV Web site and in the monthly ITV Update, which is sent to media specialists and available by the 25th of the previous month at www.itv.scetv.org.

ITV Supports Utilization and Invites Input – Workshops on ITV resources and how to use them to support curriculum are available. Contact ITV toll free at 877-885-5272, or call 803-737-3275. ITV invites your participation in the yearly ITV Review and Evaluation Process and welcomes your input. Please see staff listing for contact information.
