

Research to Best Practices: Professional Development in Special Education

NEW Module About Preschool Grant Aug. 23

ITV continues a new professional development series developed by the State Department of Education's Office of Exceptional Children. This series serves as a training resource for general and special education educators, paraprofessionals and administrators and features modules on such topics as Individualized Education Program (IEP) development, Functional Behavioral Assessments, Behavior Intervention Plans, school-wide positive behavioral supports and best instructional practices.

Please alert your special education coordinators to this series. Your administrators, teachers and paraprofessionals need to know about the staff development modules, which should be taped for use now and later.

For more information on content, contact Michelle Bishop at mbishop@ed.sc.gov.

NOTE: Look for new modules in September, October and November. Schedule and content will be announced in the ITV Update.
